This product is something that catches the attention of people who are into smoking. The cheap electric cigarette is designed so that it resembles a real cigarette and emits artificial smoke but of course it lacks the presence of tobacco. Hence, these products do not have any health or legal issues associated with it. This product was introduced soon after people became aware of the hazards associated with the normal cigars and pipes and is perfectly considered as an alternative to such products. These devices are also known as ecig electronic cigarette because they use electricity and liquid nicotine to operate. The users are able to inhale the nicotine vapor that is similar to smoke without the harmful effects of carcinogens. The cheap electric cigarette can fulfill the smokers crave for enhanced effects.

Structure and working of a cheap electric cigarette

The product is having an appearance which is similar to other traditional smoking tools. There are so many important microelectronic components incorporated within a stainless steel tube. One end of the tube consists of a headlight connected to a battery at one end, pneumatic switch and vaporizer at the other. Another important component within cheap electric cigarette is a heating device connected to the pneumatic switch and container with smoking liquid at each of the two sides. There is also a channel for providing air flow along the tube. All the components within the product are really suiting the needs of the user. . Although the usual battery used would be a rechargeable model, we have cheap electric cigarette models that are making use of non rechargeable battery which have to be replaced. Some of the models also contain the flavored cartridges that are customized according to the interests of the users.

The working of this type of cigarette is really simple once you have connected the rechargeable battery and smoking liquid cartridge inside it. When the user inhales, the electronic circuit becomes functional by magnetic induction caused due to the inhaling pressure. This would result in glowing of led in the headlight. Subsequently, the atomization of the smoking liquid within the container is brought about by the vaporizer.

The water vapor that gets released would contain nicotine, propylene glycol and a scent of tobacco. When you stop inhaling, the electronic circuit gets interrupted and the red glow stops thereby causing the liquid to return to earlier state. The darker red light indicates that you need to recharge the battery. The indication of low smoke would require the users to change the liquid cartridge or add more liquid into the container. The use of patented components has been quite helpful for the users since they don't have to use too much of force into the inhaler and the smoke coming out would also be really strong enough.
